DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

EASTERN DATES TO OCTOBER 25.

EASTERN STATES.

Further Spread of the Horse Disease.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 —The horse disease is unabated, in fact it is said to be spreading at an alarming rate. Owners of animals not seriously affected are keeping their horses in their stables, giving them every care. The number of cars running has decreased very considerably to day, although not quite so much owing to the disease as to the great inclemency of the weather caused by heavy rain. The Ninth Avenue road has stopped, so has the Fifth Avenue Stage Company. In some stables the distemper has made no apparent increase. In others, notably in that of the Third Avenue cars, it has become more severe. The Express companies report serious cases among their horses It is stated that the United States Express Company has forty car loads of freight in Jersey City, in consequence of the scarcity of teams. The European steamers were not delayed to day, although they have been inconvenienced somewhat by the stoppage of cart drivers Some lines receive cargoes on barges along the docks, and the piers look like Sunday. The same may be said of some railroad freight depots. The sight was witnessed this afternoon of men dragging loaded wagons The losses to the business community are already said to be heavy, reaching hundreds of thousands of dollars.

At Brooklyn they are suffering similarly as in New York. At the principal piers freight is piled up for want of means to deliver. The steamer Indiana, which arrived on Friday, has not yet commenced to discharge. "If the present state of things continues for the week, the steamers cannot be unloaded, and a general delay of business must ensue as regards carrying freight, and of great inconvenience from lack of horses for funerals

The Brooklyn railroad lines will probably withdraw all their cars to-morrow, and give their diseased horses a chance to rest. A few fatal cases have been reported, but it is not definitely settled whether they were caused by the epidemic or not. Medical authorities state that under most favorable circumstances the disease runs from seven to ten days. With the present unfavorable weather it may run longer. At all events it is considered that the present inconvenience to the public is liable to continue till the latter part of the coming week, by which time the horses first attacked should be convalescent.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 —It appears that the West Side Street Railway Company has a number of horses sick with colds, but none appear to have the symptoms of the epidemic prevailing in the East, though some veterinary surgeons claim to have had some.

LOCKPORT, Oct. 25 —The horse disease in this city is unabated. New cases are occurring in the city and the adjacent country. Stages find great difficulty in making trips. There is a general depression in business.

BRUNSWICK, Me, Oct 26.—The horse disease has appeared in a mild form.

Boiler Explosion.

NORFOLK, Oct. 26 —The boiler in Graves' shipyard exploded to-day, killing Peter Evans, colored engineer, and injuring several other employees and passers-by.

Financial Reports.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The shipments to-day were $1,400,000. Total for the week, $1,614,000. The Bank statement shows a loss in the legal tender reserves of $2,600,000.

Missing Men Found.

LEWES, Del, Oct. 26 —Two of the seven missing men of the crew of the bark Medway, were picked up by a pilot boat. One dead body was found.

An Old Swindler.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26 —Fletcher Mills, for twelve years clerk of the Delaware Safety Fire Insurance Co. has been arrested as a defaulter. He has been systematically issuing false certificates of scrip. The amount of the swindle is $35,000.

Another Swindle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 —L. A. Grave, who some time since swindled prominent merchants here to the amount of nearly half a million dollars, was taken into custody to-day, on his arrival from France, where he was apprehended. He was put in jail in default of $20,000 bail.

Sentenced to Death.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Oct. 26.—Wm. Craig, the young negro, yesterday convicted of the rape of Mrs. Lottie Dayton, a white woman, 24 years of age, was to day sentenced to death.

Public Dinner to Washburne.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 —A public dinner will be given to Minister Washburne by a number of prominent gentlemen.

The second trial of the Jumel will case is fixed for December.

Smallpox.

Ten cases of smallpox have occurred here during the week and three deaths.

More Rascals Indicted

It was announced late this afternoon that indictments had been found against Daniel D. Conover and Geo. H. Plunkett, of the present Board of Aldermen, and Isaac Robinson and E. Sastello, of the old Board, for frauds in connection with ceding city property in the upper part of New York for railroad purposes.

Philadelphia Court News.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—In the Court of Sessions this morning the District Attorney withdrew his motion that Mara should be sentenced to a double term of imprisonment on account of his second conviction for attempted murder, on the ground that the Governor's pardon had exonerated him.

Female Voter of Norwalk.

NORWALK, Oct. 26.—The Board of Selectmen to-day admitted to the rights of an elector Mrs. Sarah M S Huntington. She means to vote for Presidential electors. She is the first female voter admitted.

Smallpox in Boston.

BOSTON, Oct 26 —Twenty seven deaths occurred from smallpox this week.

Ruin of a Racer.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 26 —The celebrated racing mare, Anna B. White, while exercising to day, fell and ruined herself for turf purposes.

Andrew Johnson had an immense meeting here to-day.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Decision in France Against the Suez Canal Company.

PARIS, Oct 27 —The Tribunal of Commerce has decided against the claim of the Suez Canal Company of the right to alter by their own authority tonnage dues on vessels passing through the canal. The company will probably appeal from the decision.

Personal Cablegrams.

LONDON, Oct. 26 —Sumner returned to London. His health is improved.

BERLIN, Oct. 26 —Bancroft, American Minister, has left for Italy and expects to remain a month. Before returning he will visit Egypt.

French Troubles in Germany.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 —Late European papers say that it has been announced that on November 1st the Germans will insist on French subjects traveling in the new Empire being provided with passports bearing the vise of the German legation. The measure has been interpreted as specially directed against the inhabitants of Alsace and Lorraine who have chosen to abide by the French nationality A different face is put on the matter by the explanations of the National Zeitung, saying it is a necessary measure of retaliation.

French Constitutional Amendments.

PARIS, Oct 26 —The papers foreshadow the adoption at the coming session of the National Assembly of constitutional amendments making Thiers President for life and creating an Upper Chamber and the office of Vice President.

MEXICO

Reported Wreck of the Guatemala.

MATAMORAS, Oct. 25.—Porter C Bliss, Charge d'Affaires of the United States at the City of Mexico, telegraphs to-night to Thos. F. Wilson, U S Consul at that city, that he had been informed from Oaxaca, that the steamer Guatemala, of the Panama and Acapulco line, was wrecked on the bar of Sanalo Chiopaso on the 13th, and 23 persons perished. Those saved are in Tehauntepec awaiting transportation and requesting that information be telegraphed to New York.

WEST INDIES.

Doings of Insurgents.

HAVANA, Oct. 25 —One thousand insurgents attacked the town of Guisea on the 19th inst. and burned fifty houses. Government troops encountered and repulsed the insurgents. Seven of the latter, three of them Spaniards, were killed. Pepito Gonzales, insurgent leader, was killed by Mulrez, a former companion of his.

UTAH.

SALT LAKE, Oct 27 —Gen Maxwell, Administration candidate for Congress, served Apostle Canon with a notice of contest yesterday on the grounds of illegality in the vote of aliens and infants, living in open and recognized polygamy in opposition to the law of Congress, throwing out Gentile votes and general informality of the election. Testimony will be taken in a few weeks.

Tremendous snow storm to day—unparalleled for the season.

Ground was broken on the Brigham Canon Narrow Gauge Railroad, to be finished in ninety days.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27 —The trotting race between Occident and Lucy, which did not come off yesterday on account of injury to the track by rain, is fixed for Wednesday afternoon. Talk in horse circles is that Occident does not feed well away from home, and that the timothy hay imported from Philadelphia for Lucy, does not sit well on her stomach.

Arrived—British ship City of Foo Chow, 148 days from Glasgow, and the British ship Landsborough, 53 days from Hong Kong. Both vessels are under charter to load wheat for Liverpool, and can carry about 2,460 tons. The British bark Loch Urr, and the British ship Rance, from Sydney, with coal and wool, are both disengaged.

H. D. Coon, who defrauded Castill & Co. out of a large sum of money in 1860, returned to the city yesterday and gave himself up to the police.

U. S. S. Rescue arrived from Honolulu with 134 men. Her armament is 10 guns.

This evening the British bark George Groscue and American ship Charger arrived from Hong Kong. Both are under engagement to take wheat to Liverpool.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

LOS ANGELES, Oct 27 —A cold norther sprang up early this morning, the storm sweeping the plains. Vast clouds of dust almost obscured sunlight. At 10 A. M. the wind seemed to be increasing in violence. A fearful gale northeast.

A sad accident occurred at San Bernardino last Friday evening. Nathan Weeks, a well known citizen, was crushed to death in the water-wheel of his flouring mill, near town. When found, he was terribly mutilated, with one hand torn from his body crushed into a shapeless mass. It is supposed that while he was oiling the machinery in motion, he slipped and fell below and was caught in the wheel, killing him almost instantly.

SALINAS CITY, Oct. 27.—At a collision on the S. P. R. R. at this place, engineer Jack Denhart had his leg broken in a compound fracture Three horses on the cars were killed and the train wrecked. Cause, misplaced switch, supposed to be the work of boys.

SANTA CRUZ, Oct. 27.—The schooner Horace, for whose safety grave apprehensions have been entertained, arrived at this port to-day. Last Thursday the San Francisco underwriters refused insurance on the vessel and cargo.

Northern Route to the Pacific.

A Washington dispatch of the 15th inst., says:

The War Department has received from Capt. S. C. Kellogg, of the Fifth United States Cavalry, an official report of the military expedition which recently accompanied the surveying party of the Northern Pacific Railroad from the point in Dakota where that road crosses the Missouri river to the crossing of the Yellowstone river in Montana, near the mouth of the Powder river. The military escort consisted of 537 enlisted men and 34 company officers, and was commanded by Gen. Stanly. The entire expedition, including troops, Indian scouts, teamsters and railroad engineers, numbered 757. Its object was to complete the final locating survey of the railroad line across the western half of Dakota, from the Missouri to the Yellowstone river. On two or three occasions straggling parties of Indians appeared on the flanks of the column and fired upon the troops, probably with the hope of creating a stampede, which would enable them to capture or steal horses and mules. They were easily driven off in all cases without serious fighting, and entirely without loss on the part of the escort. The expedition ascended the Valley of Heart river, a tributary of the Missouri, crossed the low divide between the Missouri and the Yellowstone, and followed down the valley of O'Fallon's Creek to the Yellowstone river. The mouth of Powder river was reached on August 18 where a salute was fired, and the expedition prepared to return eastward. The return march was made at the rate of four or five miles per day, which enabled the engineers to make careful surveys and effect a final location of the railroad line across the section of country referred to, being a distance of about 235 miles. A practicable and excellent route was found without difficulty, and without any serious divergencies from a straight line. The river valleys along which the line mainly runs were found to be uniformly fertile, and the "bad lands" which are represented on most maps as covering a large part of the region traversed were almost wholly avoided by the route taken. Grass was abundant all the way from the Missouri to the Yellowstone, and good water was found at convenient intervals during the entire march. Extensive beds of lignite and semi bituminous coal were found at frequent intervals for a distance of 150 miles, Timber exists in considerable quantities, especially in the river valley, and consists mainly of oak, ash and cottonwood. The expedition was made without accidents or mishaps of any kind, and resulted as above stated, in the discovery and location of an excellent railroad route.

We look for a majority in Pennsylvania for Gen. Grant little short of a hundred thousand. It was very well understood at the Baltimore Convention that so far as the Democrats of Pennsylvania were concerned the support of Mr. Greeley in November was to be conditioned upon the election of Buckalew in October. The Democrats had only a few thousand to gain on the last election to secure Buckalew's success. They said to the Liberals: If you will help us to elect Buckalew, we will help you to elect Greeley. The Liberals have failed to fulfil their side of the contract, and now we may look for the Democrats to withdraw from their side. We predict in Pennsylvania the lightest Democratic vote and the heaviest Republican vote ever polled in that State

A Washington letter says: "The fiat has gone forth that at the next session of Congress Banks shall be removed from the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, Blair from the head of the Claims Commission, and Farnsworth from the Post-office Committee Chandler says the precedent is to be found in the action of the Senate toward Sumner last winter."

In speaking of the plans for a manificent opera house in Chicago, the Evening Post says "Our Western cities reverse the regular order of human progress in civilization, first, the necessaries, then the comforts, and last the luxuries of life. They begin with the luxuries as a sine qua non, and get the others gradually, as fast as they can afford it."

OREGON.

Hon. J. H. Mitchell will address the people at Corvallis to-morrow at 2:30 o'clock P. M.

There are one hundred and twenty thousand bushels of grain in the several warehouses at Independence.

John Doyle was arrested and held to answer on a charge of larceny, committed in a store at Roseburg, last week.

Horace Dibble, of Molalla Prairie, raised on one stalk of black Norway oats, 600 grains. A volunteer stalk.

The stage from Roseburg to Coos City now makes only one trip a week, leaving the former point each Friday.

Two hunters near Eugene City last week killed nineteen geese at three shots. They sold the geese for a half dollar each.

Hon. W. D. Hare candidate for Presidential Elector will speak at Corvallis this Monday evening, and at Eugene to-morrow.

Hon. A. B. Meacham will address the citizens of Wasco County at the Dalles this evening. He will speak at Baker City next Thursday.

S H Berman, the very popular Justice of the Peace at Independence is full of business. He reports that the hard times has made lots of law-suits.

Hon. W. W. Bristow has appointed a son of Mr. Sears, of Coast Fork, to the Agricultural College at Corvallis. There is another appointment to be made from Lane county.

Several families lately from west of McMinnville moved to Tillamook. The immigration into that county has been greatly stimulated by the passage of the Wagon Road Act.

About 120 tons of wheat is now stored in the St. Joseph warehouse. Work has been commenced on the turn-table at that place and the wagon road bridge is finished. The railroad track was to be laid to the town last Saturday.

The Roseburg Academy is flourishing under the management of S. W. Rice, who has a large number of scholars. For three days after the track was laid, they would take a recess whenever the locomotive whistled, notwithstanding the chagrin of their teacher.

The Legislature allowed the chief clerks of each house $8 per day and gave them ten days after the session closed to finish up their work; assistant clerks $6 per day; committee and other clerks $6 per day; Sergeant at-Arms and door keepers, $6 per day, and pages $3.

The Jacksonville Times says: "There arrived on the stage in town this week, an intelligent looking Indian, said to be a preacher, bound for the eastern parts of this country, to preach to the Indians there. It is also said that he has made more converts than any other minister in Oregon."

The Jackson County Fair was held last week and proved quite successful the attendance was very large, increasing each day. The pavilion was stocked with an elegant exhibition of ladies' handiwork, a large and fine stock of vegetables of all kinds, etc, the different varieties of live stock were well represented with the best and finest breeds, and the races were excellent.

THE TERRITORIES.

Passengers on the Union Pacific Railroad report immense work along the line to protect the track from snow. The Utah Division Superintendent is confident there will be no blockade the coming winter.

The best coal in the southern country is found at McAllister station, on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, Indian Territory. A five-foot vein is now being worked, and it beats any Kansas coal yet discovered.

The attorneys of Boise county petitioned to have the term of the district court postponed from the 28th instant until after the election. When the Judges met last week they changed the term until the fourth Monday in November.

Since the report that Brigham Young was dying of heart disease, became current, a company of New Yorkers have concluded to start a crape factory in Salt Lake City. The patronage of Brigham's widows will secure the success of the enterprise.

It would surprise many Eastern men to behold—more than 500 miles west of Omaha and the Missouri river, on the threshold of the Rocky Mountains—a Court House worth $35,000, and many iron and stone front stores costing from $10,000 to $20,000, surrounded by numerous brick edifices worth from $6,000 to $10,000; yet all these are to be found at Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory.

The U. S. Geological surveying party recently in Montana, found a Geyser basin near the sources of Snake river, with about two hundred springs, of all sizes, some of which spouted eighty to one hundred feet in height. The division, under the direction of Professor Hayden, reached Bozeman on the 14th inst, having completed the season's labors. Every step has been a success, and the amount of valuable material of scientific and practical value exceeds that of any previous year. The entire party proceed at once to Washington, to prepare the report to be presented to Congress for publication at an early date.

A correspondent of the Helena Herald, writing from Bozeman, Montana, October 14th, says "Recent advices from Mr. Stevenson, Director of the Snake River Division of the U. S. Geological Survey, announce the arrival of the entire party at Fort Hall, on the 11th inst, crowned with success. The entire Snake River Basin has been carefully explored by them. The party reached the Geyser Basin the last of July; obtained supplies from Virginia City, via Madison valley. They followed the Madison river to its source in a small lake, crossed the divide to Madison lake. They found that Madison lake had no connection with Madison river. It had an outlet about 100 feet wide, flowing in an opposite direction from the one given on the maps, which they followed to its entrance into another lake about five miles wide, and this proved to be the real source of Snake river.

The United States expedition to the Pacific coast for procuring salmon eggs for the Eastern rivers proceeded without delay, according to instructions, to the headwaters of the Sacramento, and arrived on the McCloud river, the principal spawning grounds of the Sacramento salmon, on the 30th of August. Contrary to all expectation, the salmon were then spawning, and although every effort was made to complete the necessary preparations for taking and maturing the eggs for shipment it was found to be too late. The objects of the McCloud river expedition were therefore confined chiefly to getting things in readiness for another year, and acquiring the information and experience requisite to success in future operations. In addition to this, however, the natural history of the Sacramento salmon in McCloud river, has been thoroughly studied, and an exhaustive collection of specimens made for the Smithsonian Institution.

Since Nebraska gave five thousand majority for Republicanism, anxious inquiries are made for the famous Tipton.

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

A German hotel-keeper at Pittsfield has lost half his customers by boasting that he kept "de pest house." He meant "the best" but the stupids thought he kept a smallpox hospital.

A Chicago merchant advertised recently "a boy—wanted," and before he got down town his clerk met him breathless, and told him that his wife had twin boys. It pays to advertise.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says: "The Chicago papers issue immense supplements on the anniversary of the great fire. We shall never be fully rid of the disastrous results of that conflagration.

The laws of the District of Columbia have been codified by a commission, and certified to. The code in force was found to be made up of one hundred and fifty English statutes, about two hundred old Maryland laws, and the Congressional statutes and the ordinances of the cities of Georgetown and Washington.

An Indianapolitan named Hagan, lately went home drunk, and, being refused supper by his wife, proceeded to break things while she sat calmly singing "Home, Sweet Home." She did this until he upset the cradle, when she arose, drew a map of Indiana upon his noble brow, borrowed a lock of hair as a tender remembrance, and sent him out of the house. Now he wants a divorce.

Statistics, in the matter of dogs, show that in this country there are something like 21,000,000 animals of this species. Estimating that the cost of each dog per year is $8, the result is an annual expenditure of $158,000,000 for the maintenance of the canine population. In Great Britain, according to the latest statistics, dogs number 1,118,203, and their owners pay a tax amounting to £297,573—about $1,487,000.

Collectors and their deputies are directed hereafter to enforce strictly the provisions of the act of March 3, 1821, June 24, 1864, and July 18, 1866, requiring such boats, vehicles, &c, to be reported for inspection and payment of duties at the office of the Collector or Deputy Collector nearest to the boundary line, and nearest to the road or waters, by which any durable article is brought into the United States from the foreign territory aforesaid.

An Arkansas paper says a plow has been invented in that State, that is attracting very great attention from farmers in Arkansas and Texas. It can be arranged to suit the smallest boy or the tallest man. The invention relates to plows for general use or farm work, and consist in the construction and arrangement of the handles, beam, standard and braces in relation to each other, and the mold-board and landslide, whereby a number of peculiar adjustments may be effected.

Perhaps no man is more sorrowfully sad over the October elections than that celebrated professor of journalism, Whitelaw Reid. In the event of Greeley's election, he expected to succeed to the editorship of the Tribune. What will be his dismay and disappointment then, when H. G. returns to his labors, as he is likely to do at any hour, and salutes the professor of journalism affectionately and gratefully thus. "Young man, I thank you; you have made a bigger fool of yourself than I have. Now, pack up your duds and go West!"

HOW PESHTIGO HAS RISEN FROM ITS ASHES.—The same night that Chicago burned the thriving little village of Peshtigo, in the heart of the lumbering region of northern Wisconsin, was destroyed by a fire and hurricane combined, only one solitary building in the place escaping the general calamity. Sixty blackened corpses were found among the ruins on the day after the fire, and the most of the inhabitants who escaped effected their salvation by retreating into the river, where they remained hours clinging to burning logs. A few found safety by huddling together in a low marsh outside the limits of the fire. Among the buildings burned in Peshtigo were saw and grist mills, a sash and blind factory, and the largest and most complete wooden ware manufactory in the United States, with brick houses for kiln drying, and two large warehouses. This factory cost the company which owned it $150,000, and had a capacity of turning out wooden ware to the value of $250,000 or $300,000 annually. This fire occurred on the night of the 9th of October a year ago, and the rapidity with which the obliterated town has been reconstructed is worthy of notice as an illustration of American enterprise and pluck. In less than a year the sum of $128,000 has been expended in rebuilding the place, which now is again a flourishing village with mills, stores, hotels, dwellings, and all the edifices essential to towns of this character, including three saloons and a calaboose. A new Congregational Church, supplied with an organ, has been finished, and an Odd Fellows' building and a school house erected. And all this has been effected in the midst of a wilderness, immediately after a disaster which, in comparison with the extent of the population, was infinitely greater than that which overwhelmed Chicago. If Peshtigo does not become a town of note in the future, it will not be for want of energy in her people.

Perhaps the best example of the growing influence and importance of American journalism in Europe is furnished by the success of the American Register in the capital of France. Until a few years ago the only journal in the English language published in Paris was the English organ, the Galignani, which monopolized the patronage of the English speaking people; but, in order to obtain a partial support from the French population, one-half the paper was printed in the language of the country. From time to time efforts were made to establish an American paper, but the attempt had in every instance before the appearance of the American Register ended in failure.—New York Herald.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 28, 1872.

Falling Behind.

The population of Missouri increased 539,285 in the decade from 1860 to 1870. It is now nearly two millions. The increase alone during that period of ten years would make five States as large as Oregon, and leave material enough over to duplicate Nevada. Oregon increased in the same period 38,458, and the population at the last census numbered only 90,923. The Wallamet valley could well support a population four or five times as great as is that of the whole State at present. Though this valley is considerably larger than any other single body of agricultural land in the State, it is not one-fourth part of the aggregate. And besides the large districts adapted to agriculture in different parts of the State, our grazing lands are almost unlimited in extent and of the best quality for all the purposes of stock-raising.

With great natural advantages and inducements to immigration, our population increases but slowly. Populous States have grown up on the plains that intervene between the Rocky Mountains and the Missouri, where the pioneer immigrant to Oregon bivouacked at night on his journey hither, and stood sentinel all night to guard his camp against the savages who were then the only occupants of that vast region. A cold and inhospitable climate has proved no obstacle to the hardy race that has ever broken the way for civilization, as the star of empire has taken its way westward, and westward again. With her equable climate and fertile soil, her nearness to the sea and to the trade of the eastern continent, her rich mineral deposits and boundless forests, Oregon ought certainly to have received her full proportion of this immense tide of population. That she has not received it, is attributable to the fact that her resources have never been advertised to the world. With the exception of such effort as a few individuals have made, independently of State co-operation, nothing has ever been done toward the dissemination of information concerning Oregon. In other new States the subject of immigration has received the attention of the Government, and every legitimate means has been employed to promote the settling up of the country; and we see the result in their rapid increase of population, and advancement in all the amenities of civilization. Every dollar that Oregon expends in making her advantages known to the industrious people of the old States who are looking to the west for homes, will come back to her ten fold, through the increase of her taxable property. The creation of a Board of Immigration was one of the best measures passed by the recent session of the Legislature, and the appointment as traveling Commissioner, of a man so thoroughly conversant with all the interests of the State, and so able to impart his knowledge to others, as Gen. E. L. Applegate, will supplement the action of the State Board in a way that cannot fail to produce great results. We hope, when the census of our State is taken in 1875, as the law provides it shall be, the result will prove that while other regions far less inviting, are filling up with people, Oregon also has taken her place in the march of progress.

Professor D'Aubigne, of Geneva, died a few days since, aged 76 years. He was the son of a merchant of Geneva, and his mother was of an old Huguenot family. He attended college at Geneva, and took his post-graduate lectures at Berlin. He was one of the finest theological scholars of Europe. His first pastoral services were in connection with a French Church at Hamburg, and he was subsequently Chaplain to the King of Holland. He occupied the Chair of Ecclesiastical History in a theological seminary at Geneva from 1830, and in the meantime wrote his great History of the Reformation. He was the author of quite a number of books of a religious character; but none that is entitled to a place beside his History of the Reformation, which ranks among the greatest works of the age in learning and research, and is pre-eminently the best history ever written from the Protestant standpoint, of that remarkable social and religious revolution.

A specimen of the manner in which the Greeley journals endeavor to make it appear that their candidate has great strength among men of Republican antecedents, is the statement which has been going the rounds of those papers that "ex-Congressman Van Wyck of Wisconsin," who is referred to as a very prominent Republican, has abandoned the Republican party and declared himself for Greeley and Brown. There was never any such a man in existence as ex-Congressman Van Wyck, of Wisconsin. Wisconsin never had a Congressman of the name of Van Wyck.

The Petaluma Argus mentions a machine recently invented by a man named Burgtorf, of that city, for stamping leather. This work is usually done by hand. The Argus says there is a large number of saddles on exhibition in Petaluma stamped by this machine, and that it is a decided success. The work done is equal to the best hand-work, and a person can perform with it, in one hour, as much work as would take three days by hand.

The citizens of Stockton, California, are agitating the question of constructing a narrow guage railway from that place to Visalia in Tulare county. The Visalians have taken hold of the project, and have already subscribed $44,000 toward the enterprise, promising enough to make it $100,000. It is the only chance Visalia is likely to have for railway connections with those points whence the bay can be reached by water.

The chairman of the Democratic-Liberal Committee in Missouri, after consultation with Schurz, has sent out a confidential circular in which the ground is taken that "the coalition must be abandoned, the Democrats beaten on local tickets and the Legislature; Blair thrown overboard, the hope of Presidential success relinquished, and the efforts devoted to found a new free-trade party for the future."

A member of the family of the late Major Francis, informs us that his age was 76 years, instead of 80, as we stated. The information given us in regard to his age we may have misunderstood.

A Reasonable Explanation.

Many Republicans are so utterly stupid as to be unable to see any reason for the intense affection with which the Democracy regard Horace Greeley. Such persons are wilfully blind. Nothing but the most deep-seated prejudice could close their eyes to the fact that Mr. Greeley has always been a warm admirer of the Democratic party, and has never failed to speak in its praise when opportunity could be found. We cite here a few specimens of his handsome sayings about that party, taken at random out of an immense mass of the same kind, which formed the larger portion of his voluminous writings for a series of years:

> "If Democracy has concocted or borrowed an 'interference theory' which justifies such meddling, it is a worse theory than even we had supposed. All do know that there are several hundred thousand mulattoes in this country, and we presume no one has had any serious doubt that the fathers of at least nine tenths of them are white Democrats. And we hold that those Democrats, if they will have yellow children, might better than otherwise treat the mothers respectively as wives, after the laudable pattern of that eminent Democrat, Vice President Richard M. Johnson."
>
> The brain, the heart, the soul of the present Democratic party is the rebel element at the South, with its Northern allies and sympathizers. It is rebel at the core to-day. It would hail the election of a Democratic President in 1872 as a virtual reversal of the Appomatox surrender. It would come into power with the hate, the chagrin, the mortification of ten bitter years to guide its step. It would hail the tidings of National bankruptcy with unalloyed gladness and unconcealed exultation. Whatever chastisement may be deserved by our National sins, we must hope that this disgrace and humiliation will be spared us.
>
>
> Every youth who is learning to sip and soak in the grog shops is being fashioned to the uses of sham Democracy. His virtuous parents may think otherwise—may be ignorant of his haunts and his habits; but if he is learning to love liquor and loose company he is being fashioned to the ends of the adversary. Hence the Democratic managers and oracles almost uniformly hate and revile the temperance reform, even when personally temperate. They know that its triumph is their damage and probable defeat. There is not a State in the Union whereof the Democratic party is not conspicuously hostile to whatever legislation tends to dimish the number or the power of its grogshops.
>
> A purely selfish interest attaches the lewd, ruffianly, criminal, and dangerous classes to the Democratic party.

If there are still any who do not think Mr. Greeley's utterances entitle him to the warmest affections of all true members of the Democratic party, we offer them one more complimentary notice of their party by the Great Horace:

> The World recently gave a graphic account of the dens and denizens which gave character to the Five Points and other "slums" of our city—a class perhaps lower in the scale of being than can be found in any heathen city on earth. We thereupon asked our contemporary to state frankly whether the pugilists, blacklegs, thieves, burglars, keepers of dens of prostitution, &c., &c., who make up so large a share of our city's inhabitants, were not almost unanimously Democrats?

The National Finances.

The following extracts from a speech of Secretary Boutwell delivered at the Mercantile Library Hall in St. Louis on the 5th of October, shows the Secretary to be complete master of the question of our national finances, and at the same time shows how utterly groundless are the charges made by the Democrats and Greeleyites, of fraud and mismanagement in the Treasury Department:—

"Now, then I have to say what the books of the Treasury show, and they have been examined again and again by committees of Congress, that we have printed over eighty millions of sheets of this paper, a large part of which has been applied to the uses of the Government, and every sheet of this paper can be accounted for on the books of the Department. [Applause.] Now, I make this statement, gentleman, because you can understand how the public credit would be undermined if the impression were accepted in this country, and especially if it were accepted in Europe, that by any process the public securities from the genuine plates could be produced and put upon the markets of the world.

"And I have to say, with due respect to those persons who make these suggestions, that while, according to the rules of an ordinary political canvass, they have a right to assail the Administration for whatever it may be suspected of, there are some things connected with the Goverment too sacred for the touch of ruthless hands. [Applause.] And one of these things unquestionably is the preservation of the public credit. [Applause.] And I appeal with great confidence to the business men of St. Louis and of the country, of whatever political opinion they may be, that they will not sanction assaults of this character upon the conduct of affairs so delicate in their nature and so essential to the public welfare, unless they are first satisfied that there is substantial ground for the accusations made.

"I come now to the other branch of the subject, and that is the redemption of the public securities. The books of the Treasury Department show, and the statements, monthly made, show, that since the first day of March, 1869, the sum of about three hundred and fifty eight millions of dollars of the public debt has been paid. [Applause.] An allegation has been made, and made in a very respectable quarter, that this statement is not true; that in some way or other the books of the Department are falsified, so that the public is continually deceived as to the true state of affairs. Well, now, if this were true—if this statement were believed—why, it would not so essentially affect the public credit as belief in the other statement. Still it is very essential to the public credit that the country and the world should know whether we have paid, in the course of three years and a half, three hundred and fifty millions of the public debt or not. I must rely upon the statement of facts bearing upon this subject, and I think they are tending to show that the true statements put forth monthly from the Treasury Department; so that if any twelve of you were were in the jury-box you would not hesitate to find a verdict according to the view I present.

"Now, when you consider, gentlemen, the process—when you consider that if there be any fraud in this business there must be men engaged in the fraud in six or eight different offices—isn't it the most improbable thing in the world that any fraud can arise? But I have better evidence, if better evidence than circumstantial evidence be required; but I think in this case, as in many others, the circumstantial proof is so strong that direct testimony hardly adds to the value of the cause. But the direct testimony is this: Last November a committee was appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, consisting of certain members of the Treasury Department, and two bankers of the city of Washington, not connected with the Government, the first of whom was Mr. Riggs, of the firm of Corcoran & Riggs, known in this country and in Europe as an eminent banker and an honest man, not in any way connected with the Treasury Department, not sympathizing in in his political opinions with the Administration. With this gentleman the House of Representatives saw fit to associate one of its committees, of which Mr Lynch, of Maine, was chairman, and upon which were several Democratic members. Through many weeks this committee, thus constituted, examined the books of the Treasurer's office. They counted the amount of bonds, the notes redeemed, the notes on hand not issued—every evidence of indebtedness, and every species of property which could be regarded as an asset in the hands of the Government—and that committee made a report without a dissenting voice that everything in office of the Treasury of the United States was correct. [Applause.]

"I fear, gentlemen, that you will feel that I have dwelt too long upon these matters; but they touch the public credit, and I thought this a proper time and a proper place to lay before you, citizens of St. Louis, and if it should so happen before the country, the actual facts, so that you and all men may understand that if these assertions are hereafter made, it will be either by men who do not understand the subject matter of which they speak, or else by men who designedly falsify for political purposes. [Applause.]

"We have kept a considerable amount of coin in the Treasury, not only for the reasons I have suggested, but for the reason that we expect a time will come when the Government will be able to resume specie payments; and who does not see that if that fortunate moment ever arrives, the Government must be able to enter upon the undertaking, as it were without observation? If it be necessary, in order to resume specie payment, for the Government to commence hoarding specie, or to go into the markets of the country or the world for the purpose of borrowing or buying specie, the very mode of attempting to do the thing will render the doing of the thing itself impossible.

"Now, gentlemen, I make here with some diffidence, but I make it a suggestion which is of a political character. I have stood at the head of the Treasury Department, and I have no right, nor would it be my desire, to hold the President of the United States responsible for the details of the Administraton. Whether you are satisfied or dissatisfied with what has been done, while your opinion would have great effect upon me if I knew what that opinion was, still in the consideration of the political questions which are before you personally I am nothing.

"What has been done, speaking generally—not of the details, but speaking generally—what has been done, has been done with the approval and in harmony with the judgment of the President.

POLITICAL NOTES.

In Iowa, they compare the enthusiasm for Greeley to the racing qualities of the mud turtle.

Henry B. Clay, a nephew of the great Harry, is getting up a barbecue in the interest of Andy Johnson.

Gen. Banks told President Grant he should consider it a personal insult if he appointed Mr. Gooch, his rival, to a high office in Massachusetts. The people will do it on the 5th of November.

August Schell, Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, still says that Mr. Greeley will be the next President. But Gen. Banks beats him in the confidence game by saying that Greeley will carry both Pennsylvania and Ohio in November.

Dana has been begging for the New York Collectorship for eight years. He asked Andy Johnson for it and was refused. He asked Grant for it and was refused. He had Horace Greeley's promise for it, but Horace cannot fulfill. Poor Dana! His Sun is obscured.

Horace Greeley has been lecturing before an agricultural society in Baltimore on the best method of improving worn-out lands. As soon as Mr. Greeley discovers it he will see about applying it to those pre-eminently barren territories, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio.

The grand "tidal wave" of public opinion which was to have swept the country from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf of Mexico, and from the Pacific to the Alantic, in favor of Greeley and Brown, is already becoming a fearful engine of destruction to their deluded followers.

The wolf's ears are beginning to stick out of the sheep's clothing in earnest in Richmond, Va. A Confederate club has been organized there in token of "clasped hands across the bloody chasm," with the appropriate title of the "Stonewall-Greeley Club." As "Stonewall" died before Greeley did, his name is placed first.

Colonel Alexander K. McClure, Chairman of the Liberal State Central Committee of Pennsylvania, says in the Philadelphia Press: "Pennsylvania is hopelessly for Grant, and I do not think either Ohio or Indiana as likely to vote for Greeley. I regard the debatable States as settled against us by the October elections."

A protruding toe is not a pretty sight, and is never seen where children wear SILVER-TIPPED Shoes. They will save half your shoe bills. For sale by all dealers.

CITY.

A HARMLESS RUNAWAY.—Think not gentle reader that the runaway we are about to narrate, is a case of two hopeless desperate lovers yearning for the hymenial knot and held apart by obdurate hearted parients "Nothing of the sort." Several days ago a young pedagogue who is engaged in the delightful task of teaching young ideas how to grow and expand not many miles east of this city came to Portland He soon after repaired to a livery stable hired a span of bright bays and a buggy In compliance with a previous engagement he drove up to a certain residence on —— street A charming young girl made her appearance on the porch simultaneous with the arrival of the carriage in front of the residence leading one to suppose that some sort of a mutual understanding existed between the young gentleman and lady It was but the work of a moment for the girl to trip nimbly in the buggy, and the two turned their faces toward the rural districts The river was soon crossed, and the spires of the city faded from the view of the couple Several miles beyond the limits of East Portland the young man alighted from the carriage to open a gate which stood across the road The gate was swung wide open and the lady took the lines and drove through Not being a very experienced driver, she did not check the team a high spirited and fractious one as soon as she should The horses trotted through and not being reined in tightly continued to accelerate their speed The young man shouted to the fair driver to hold them in, but she became frightened, seeing the horses were getting the advantage, and was every moment growing weaker and losing control The pedagogue ran as only a man can run when either his own or the life of a lady is in jeopardy But the horses by this time were running at a furious rate, and left the former far behind The road for about four miles beyond the gate, led down a gradual descent, through a thick wood and was rough and beset in many places with logs and stumps Along down this grade the horses ran with a speed akin to magnetism The lines had long since fallen from the hands of the young lady who was nearly frightened to death All she could do was to cling to the seat expecting death every instant But by some sort of blind luck, or the merciful interposition of Providence, the horses avoided every stone, tree stump and log, as they sped away over the rough and tortuous road She passed many teams and met several during her "John Gilpin" race They could do nothing to stop the horses The horses, buggy and girl flashed past and disappeared on the instant. Several persons who saw the runaways at the farm houses along the road, mounted horses and lead a spirited chase At the end of the four miles, there was a sudden turn in the road and a little hill to ascend By this time the bright bays were nearly run down, and taking advantage of the decrease of the speed the lady sprang to the ground unharmed The team ran ahead but was overtaken about two miles farther on Strange as it may appear, not a stitch of the harness was torn, nor a bolt of the buggy sprung The team was captured, driven back, and the girl and young man met The horses had run nearly seven miles, and were white with lather The schoolteacher drove to a farm house hard by, where he had the team curried off and rubbed down, and all traces of their race obliterated The young fellow felt so deeply mortified by the circumstance, that he came to this city by a different route from the one which he had taken He drove the team back to the stable and the keeper is not any the wiser to this day, of the narrow risk and long race made by his horses The thing however leaked out by the admission of the young lady Aside from the serio-ludicrous coloring the escape was little short of the miraculous A sound fright and no one hurt, nor any pecuniary loss sustained We can vouch for the truth of the above, and give names if we desired

BOTH EYES KICKED.—A sportsman while out hunting on the Clackamas, a few days ago, for ducks and wild geese, which have commenced to put in a shy appearance along the water courses at this season of the year, met with a ludicrous but unpleasant accident The old fowling piece which had been used for years by the sportsman, was out of repair, so he was compelled to borrow a gun from one of his near neighbors The piece was a double-barrel shotgun. The neighbor forgot to state to the borrower that the gun had one very bad habit—that of kicking whenever, discharged, whether heavily loaded or not Our sportsman took the fowling piece, and without asking needless questions, started off Sauntering along leisurely up the classic banks of the Clackamas, he presently perceived a flock of ducks swimming in the margin of the stream Cautiously he approached the unsuspecting fowls through the underbrush When within about seventy five yards of the flock he raised and fired The load of shot was thrown forward and scattered profusely among the ducks killing and wounding a number But the gun took a "back action" at the same instant The butt was planted just below our hero's right optic in a manner more forcible than pleasant When consciousness returned, our hero found himself lying near the water's edge, and his gun several yards away among the brush Picking up the 'piece' he bent inquiring glances towards that portion of the stream in the direction he had discharged the load, and had the satisfaction of seeing half a dozen ducks floating around Securing his game he loaded the fowling piece and started up the stream in quest of more birds A walk of a couple hundred yards brought him in view of another flock of ducks Without giving the alarm he crept within good range He slowly raised the old gun to fire, and painfully remembering the late sad experience, he held the piece half an arm's distance from his face and fired Alas, for human philosophy! the old gun kicked worse than before, this time striking him plump in the left eye He was stunned severely hurt, and sent sprawling backwards to the earth More in anger than sorrow rose he Phœnix like from the earth, and grasping the cause of all his pain and mortification, near the muzzle he dashed it against the trunk of a tree breaking it into many fragments But he had not missed his quarry several fine mallards rewarded his last efforts These he secured by wading up to his chin in the cold water Last Saturday he came to the city, bearing in triumph the fruits of the chase, with a pair of highly colored eyes He informed our reporter that it was a good day for ducks, and a bad day for optics but he had the pleasure of knowing he had killed a dozen ducks, received two black eyes and put that old gun beyond kicking any more

OBSEQUIES OF MAJOR SIMEON FRANCIS.—The funeral obsequies of the late Major Simeon Francis, an editorial announcement of whose death appeared in the OREGONIAN of Saturday morning were held at his late residence yesterday at 9 o'clock A M The Rev T L Eliot officiated in the religious services held over the body At the close of the exercises the remains were placed in the hearse and conveyed to the Oregon Steam Navigation Company's wharf, where the steamer Onconta was in waiting to receive them A large number of friends of the deceased followed the body, in hacks and carriages to the steamer The following military and civic gentlemen acted as pall-bearers General E R S Canby Col David Taggart, Major J S Walker, General Rufus Saxton, W Lair Hill Thos Frazer Chas Hodge and Henry Failing Esqrs On the arrival at the boat, the remains were placed on board also the horses, carriages and those who were in attendance At about half past ten o clock the steamer swung out from her wharf and passed down the river with the national colors and pennant flying at half mast in respect to the memory of the departed At Vancouver the funeral cortege was headed by the Twenty First Infantry band which discoursed on the way to the cemetery the melancholy dirge of the dead Next to the band a company of soldiers from the garrison marched followed by the hearse pall bearers, officers relatives and friends Arriving at the military cemetery near the post, the funeral ceremonies were performed according to the rites of the Episcopal church by the Rev Mr McCarty followed with the Lord's Prayer," by Rev T L Eliot The assembly was dismissed at the conclusion of these services All that was mortal of the cherished dead was then slowly lowered to its final resting place and amid the solemn strains of martial music the last military honors were paid by the discharge of three volleys over the grave Having performed the last sad rites the procession moved away from the spot leaving the hero who had fought the last battle of life to slumber alone in his glory Peace to his ashes cherished be his memory and lightly rest the green sod above his bed of clay

ONLY DRUNK.—A fair proportion of the accidents which result fatally or otherwise are attributable to indulgence in strong drink A fellow last Saturday took too much spirits and throwing himself carelessly around one of the wharves fell overboard Persons who heard the splash and saw the hat floating came to the rescue and pulled him out or else the Coroner would have made a fee Had he taken less water internally with his liquor, than he did externally, the narrow risk would not have been run

NEHALEM VALLEY.—A gentleman who has just returned from Nehalem valley gives us the following information This valley is about seventy five miles long with an average width of one mile There is sufficient width on each side of the Nehalem river for a claim and in many places two claims deep The mountains come down abruptly to the edge of the valley most of the distance throughout its length At the time our informant left the valley there were in the vicinity of fifty claims taken Settlers were coming in very rapidly and within a few months there will probably be one hundred families in the valley A large proportion of those who are settling up are German farmers A wagon road was started some time ago from a point on the Columbia river four miles from Westport leading to the valley On a direct line the distance from tide water on the Columbia river to the waters of the Nehalem is only nine miles The road has not been completed so that wagons can make the trip but an excellent trail has been opened and groceries necessary articles of merchandise etc which are required by the settlers of the valley can be transported from the point of debarkation on the Columbia to the waters of the Nehalem by pack animals The country through which the trail extends is not very rugged, and it is hoped that a good wagon road will be opened within a year from the present writing

The soil of this valley is a light alluvium and very fertile Wheat oats and barley yield well Vegetables of all kinds are grown in the greatest profusion and attain an almost marvellous size No other portion of the Willamette valley can compare with the Nehalem in the size and yield per acre in the growth of potatoes But very little if any prairie lands are met throughout the extent of the valley A heavy growth of underbrush covers the country with a sparse quantity of heavy timber The principal growth is the vine maple with a small proportion of fir, hazel ash and oak The larger timber offers but little opposition to the farmer but the clearing of the land of the small brush is a serious obstacle in the reduction of the land to cultivable purposes and its reclamation from the condition in which nature has left it The great productiveness of the soil offers an abundant inducement to the farmer to expend the needed labor to clear the land, and promises a handsome reward for such toil in a yield both compensative and profitable

The Nehalem valley lies within the boundaries of the three counties—Washington Clatsop and Columbia and comprises in its limits fragments of each The Nehalem river which either imparts or receives its name from the valley, rises in the Coast Range of mountains not far from the Columbia, and flowing in a circling course, first northwest and then southwest empties into the Pacific Ocean about forty miles south of the Columbia It is a beautiful stream, cold and limpid as a mountain brook During the summer months the stream gets quite low and can only be navigated by canoes or boats of very light draught In the winter season, swelled by snows and rains in the mountains it assumes river like proportions, and would be navigable by steamers of considerable size When at its greatest height, the current is so strong that no steamboats except those of great power, could ascend the Nehalem and even then, navigation would be attended with difficulty and some risk, However the river offers such facilities for transportation as with reasonable enterprise and appliances, will supply all the local demands of the settlers for years to come One very noticeable peculiarity of this stream is that of its uniform depth The action of the current has worn a channel in a kind of soap stone, and the bed of the river preserves an evenness seldom met with in any stream, especially those of this State For miles, at the present stage of water, a person can paddle a canoe without meeting, in his course a ripple, the river not varying in depth a foot Occasionally a short rapid offers an obstacle to the navigator—probably the fall of a foot in fifty yards At such points there is no alternative left but for the navigator to get out wade over the riffle and drag his canoe after him

The varied inducements held out to farmers and stockraisers by the natural resources and adaptability to agriculture, of this fertile little valley are sufficiently strong to secure its early settlement The whole State would be greatly benefited and Portland especially, would come in for her full share of the benefits to result from the early population of Nehalem valley and its consequent conversion to a thriving agricultural community Every encouragement possible ought to be extended by the State towards any enterprise claiming for its object the speedy settlement of this valley and aid should be given to secure a good wagon road from some point in Washington or Yamhill county to the valley, thus affording a cheap, short, and safe means of transportation of the valuable productions of that new section, and enabling the producers to place the fruits of their farms and dairies in our market at rates profitable to buyer and seller

ORDER AT THE THEATER.—Portland has many bad boys, and as a matter of course, many such juveniles find their way into the theatre It has long been a subject of remark that the young sovereigns of the pit create a great deal of unnecessary noise during the rendition of plays, by whistling, coughing and stamping, to the embarrassment of the actors and annoyance of the audience Between the acts the boys—and some who are too large and old to designate as boys—improve the time by the most uproarous and turbulent conduct—literally converting that portion of the theatre to a veritable bedlam No blame attaches to the management or those who have charge of the house during the performance The last named persons use all the authority at hand to enforce order and are unsparing in their efforts to preserve decorum among the 'gods.' But their efforts are not always successful in accomplishing this very desirable result Last Saturday evening two young chaps were led out by the ears for persisting in indecorous conduct by a police officer Order should be enforced in places of amusement as well as in any other kind of meetings, and those who disregard rules of common decency, and refuse to observe that degree of order necessary to the dignity of the place, and the pleasure and freedom from annoyance to the audience, should be dealt with severely We hope in the future that those who attend the theater from motives of pastime and edification may enjoy immunity from this annoyance Order should be maintained at all hazards in all portions of the theater If by no other means, let a policeman be stationed in the pit, and overawe these young hoodlums by his presence

CELESTIAL FUNERAL.—An imposing Chinese funeral took place in this city yesterday The procession was unusually large for the kind, and a number of Celestials clad in white flowing vestures, followed the remains of their defunct comrade Along the route the good spirits which are supposed to hover over the bodies of all good subjects of the Flowery Kingdom, were exorcised and the evil spirits frightened away by the ravishing sounds of the tom tom cymbals fuzzy-guzzy and the plaintive notes of a brass horn If nothing more can be said of the virtues of the deceased it can with truth be remarked that his funeral was an eminent success

UPSET.—A young man while out in a row boat a short time ago on the Columbia Slough with two women upon the craft The keel of the boat ran on a snag just a few inches below the surface of the water Endeavoring to cause the boat to swing clear she was capsized and the three thrown into the water The water very fortunately proved shallow just reaching the chin of the young man With a presence of mind equal to the emergency he assisted the ladies to obtain hold of the boat and by that means keep themselves above the water He obtained a footing in the yielding mud and carried the ladies out one at a time and landed them on the bank

AQUATIC FOWLS.—The season of the year has arrived when our amateur and professional sportsmen will find an abundance of ducks and wild geese along the river and adjacent water courses Already several species of the duck family and wild geese have made their appearance in the markets These fowls will replenish the depleted purses of the sportsmen and gladden the palates of those who have a penchant for fowl's flesh

FERRY HOUSE.—Some time ago it was announced that the proprietor of the Stark street ferry contemplated the construction of a ferry house at the foot of L street Last Portland Saturday a number of workmen were engaged in laying the foundation and cross beams for the [illegible] In the course of a few weeks the building will be completed A similar one should be constructed on this side

THE STABBING CASE.—Young Brown who was arrested on the charge of stabbing a young man who drives a dray in the city was yesterday released on bail The case will come up before Judge Denny during this morning providing the condition of the wounded man will allow his attendance on the Court The injuries have been examined by a physician and pronounced of a character not dangerous

The Escurial

Within a comparatively short time, four prominent museums of art and literature have been partially destroyed—the Louvre, the Strasburg Library, the Dusseldorf Gallery, and Warwick Castle—and now a fifth is added to the number, the famous Escurial, which is reported by telegraph to have been struck by lightning, and partially, if not completely, destroyed on Wednesday last. The Escurial was a monastery of New Castile, in the Province of Madrid, and about thirty miles from that city. It was built by Philip II and owes its origin, according to the common legend, to a vow made by that monarch during the battle of St Quentin, August 10, 1567, that if he was successful he would dedicate a monastery to St Lorenzo, otherwise known as St. Lawrence, who endured martyrdom by being roasted upon a gridiron. The Escurial was commenced in 1563 and finished in 1584, and was built in the form of a gridiron, 744 feet from north to south, and 680 feet from east to west. Long courts represent the bars, towers at each angle the feet, and an extension used as a Royal residence, the handle. It was intended to serve as a palace, mausoleum, and monastery, and has a chapel with three naves, 320 feet long and 320 feet in height to the top of the cupola. The mausoleum, or Pantheon, as it is called, is an octagon chamber 36 feet in diameter by 38 feet in height, on the eight sides of which are black marble sarcophagi, containing the remains of the Spanish Kings, and their mothers, none others of the Royal families being allowed burial there. The library, previous to the sack of the Escurial by the French, in 1808, contained 30,000 printed and 4,300 MS volumes, being mainly treasures of Arabic literature. There was also much treasure-trove in it in the way of literature, coins, pictures, and other works of art, which Philip II. brought back with him from his wars in the Netherlands. At the time of its completion, the Escurial was called the eighth wonder of the world, but for years past it has slowly been going to ruin, and has only been kept in partial repair by frequent grants from the government. Unless the grand works of Murillo and Velasquez were there (which have sometimes been kept there), it is not probable that the world of art has suffered materially in its destruction. The loss in such a case is confined to the mere tawdry adornments of a palace, the furniture of a monastery, and the unimportant relics of a lot of dead and gone kings and their mothers, who have sunk their enmities and quarrels in one common holocaust. As the Escurial itself was out of repair architecturally, it will appear much more imposing and beautiful as a ruin.—Chicago Tribune.

Some young fellows out West, when they once become addicted to eloping, can hardly restrain themselves within moderate limits. A youth in Detroit lately took a maiden and a large sum of money and eloped from the father and owner of the same. Having accomplished this much, he next took the money and eloped from the maiden, and thus secured the real object of his affection without encumbrance.

Mr. George Coolbroth, ex-private in company A, 5th Maine volunteers, has relinquished his pension. He gives the following reason for the sacrifice: "I am a firm believer in the immediate return of our Saviour to earth; I have felt condemned for some time for taking this money, it being the price of blood, therefore you will please erase my name from the pension list."

There is nothing the Chinese won't learn. Some workmen of that nationality, who recently left a cigar factory in San Francisco on a strike, gathered in force the other day, and threatened to clean out the new force who had taken their places.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

SATURDAY EVENING, Oct. 26, 1872

Gold in New York to-day, 113¼.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 88c buying; 90c selling.

Average California Wheat in Liverpool, 12s 0d@12s 9d; Club Wheat, 13s.

Later advices from Eastern cities report renewed stringency in financial circles, and the apparent relaxation produced by a timely movement of the Secretary of the Treasury, has seemingly been again checked by the demands from the great grain growing States of the West for funds to move the surplus crops. But we believe that the general feeling prevails, that the worst part of the crisis is past, and that a more comfortable state of affairs will soon exist.

A late number of the New York Journal of Commerce says the demand continues to be moderately active, but the supply of Funds has somewhat increased, and with the general improvement in the tone of the market, borrowers find more ready accommodations, by loans subject to call upon prime securities at 7 per cent as the prevailing rate. Strictly first-class commercial Paper, is negotiated by dealers at 10@12 per cent. per annum discount.

The Chicago Tribune says: The local Money market continues stringent, with no prospect of any considerable change for the better. The excessive cost of transporting Freight eastward leaves almost nothing to the Western farmer for Corn, Oats, and many other kinds of produce. The same thing prevents the Lumber from coming forward to this market from Michigan and Wisconsin. Vessel owners are making so much more in carrying Wheat and Corn that many of them cannot afford to lose the time to bring loads of Lumber back to this city. Thus the excessive cost of transportation leaves the farmer nothing for his labor and prevents Lumber from coming to market. Under these circumstances farmers and lumbermen find it hard work to pay their debts, and when these classes cannot pay mercantile men all have to borrow, and Money becomes stringent.

An intelligent English shipmaster takes a hopeful view of the carrying trade, as far as sailing vessels are concerned. He says it is satisfactory for owners of sailing ships that the prospects for this class of vessels are very cheering, freights in all directions being on the advance, and with the continuance of the present high price of coals and materials for iron shipbuilding it would appear that sailing ships will more than hold their own for some time to come, as it will be difficult for steamers to compete with them under the present disadvantageous circumstances, which are only too likely to be prolonged for a considerable time, and the sailing ships must reap the benefit at the expense of steamers. It is admitted that a large quantity of grain will be required in the United Kingdom to supply the deficiency arising from the unfortunately bad harvest. Freights on the west coast of American are not very remunerative, and likely to be still more so further on. Ships can be fixed to arrive at San Francisco £4 to £5 ℔ ton on wheat, according to time of arrival. There is a large demand for tonnage for guano requirements, 70s ℔ ton is now offered, but it would not be surprising to see 90s paid ere long. Cotton and grain freights from the United States are likely also to be very remunerative.

In Ceylon, the Coffee crop of the coming season at one time expected to be large, it is now believed will only be an average one. It looked exceedingly well and full of promise at the blossoming time, but unfavorable weather afterwards destroyed a considerable portion of the newly formed fruit, and but for the new land coming into bearing, of which there is a good deal, we should have to deplore a much more serious deficiency. However, the spirits of planters are not depressed. In fact, a very sanguine feeling exists as to the future of Coffee, and the Crown lands cannot be put up to sale fast enough to meet the demand, but there is plenty of land for all comers for a good while yet, and there is no necessity for intending purchasers running each other up, as has been the case recently.

The New Orleans Picayune says: "The papers published in the sugar raising parishes complain of the injury the long drouth is doing the sugar cane. In the parish of Plaquemines alone is the cane, so far as our exchanges tell us, entirely uninjured by the drouth, and this is now at an end in that parish.

The reports of the rice crop in this State are most encouraging. The dry weather has materially assisted the harvesting. In the parish of Plaquemines, which raises half the rice produced in the State, the crop is reported to be one of the largest and finest ever harvested."

Our local market generally is quiet, and the week closes with a degree of assurance on the part of dealers that the next will open fair. We have no changes to note, except in the staple of Wheat, which is weaker on account of the last advices by telegraph from Liverpool.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Oriflamme left San Francisco for this port this morning with a full freight and passenger list.

The steamship California for Victoria and Puget Sound ports will sail on Tuesday evening next.

The bark Loch Dee, which, owing to a lack of water, grounded on Swan Island Bar a few days since, has been got off after lightering one hundred tons of cargo, and is at this time at Astoria, where she will receive the remainder of her cargo.

The ship Siam, engaged to carry Wheat to the United Kingdom, will commence loading Monday morning.

By the middle of the week the bark Zouave now at Kalama, will be ready to take her place on the berth for the same destination.

Business Directory!

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL COMMENCE SOLICITING for a

Business Directory of the State

OF OREGON in a few days; and, to make it successful, respectfully request the co-operation of all persons interested in the welfare of the country. The State has now reached that position when a yearly summary of her progress is necessary, hence the value of a work which will, in a condensed form,

COMBINE ALL MATTERS OF PUBLIC INTEREST.

The work in contemplation will embrace a

General Sketch of the State,

ITS PHYSICAL ASPECTS,
GEOLOGY,
CLIMATOLOGY,
BOTANY,
ZOOLOGY,
COMMERCE,
MANUFACTURES,
SOCIETIES,
PUBLIC BUILDINGS,
PRODUCTIONS,

And all other subjects on which information is required.

The work will be illustrated with sketches of some of the leading prominent scenery of the State, and its compilation will be under the charge of J. MORTIMER MURPHY, Esq., whose recent work on Washington Territory has been highly commended by the press and public.

THE BUSINESS DIRECTORY OF EACH TOWN AND CITY WILL BE COMPLETE;

And that, with sketches of each place, should make it invaluable to the Merchant, Farmer and Mechanic.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM, it will be THE BEST yet introduced in the State, as it will be of such importance that it will always be retained in a prominent position for reference.

THE RATE OF ADVERTISING will be as follows:

HALF PAGE	10.
CARD	5.

Advertisers taking one page will receive a copy of the book gratis.

PRICE of work will be .... $3.50.

The book will be distributed on every route of travel and public place in the country.

To Sufferers:

THE ABOVE ESTABLISHMENT HAS BEEN opened for the treatment of all Chronic and Private Diseases, in males as well as females, where all who are suffering from any of those dreadful ailments can find relief.

Young men having weakened and injured their constitutions by secret habits, need have no fear in calling and consulting me, as all communications are strictly confidential, and sure of a permanent cure where treatment is followed.

Special attention given to the treatment of stricture, and to all who are suffering from such, I can warrant a cure.

Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Piles, Dropsy, Cancers, and all other ailments successfully treated.

To Ladies who are dragging out a life of misery, on account of debility, sterility, menstruation, and many other diseases peculiar to the sex, can find relief by calling.

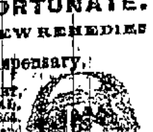
The celebrated FEMALE REGULATOR PILLS sent free by mail to any address on receipt of $5 00 per box. Certain and safe in all cases.

Office consultation free of charge. All communications strictly confidential. Office hours, 11 A. M. to 1 P. M., and 7 to 9 P. M. DR. C. G. GLASS

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 622 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples, and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, of advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

ADVERTISING

Has created many a new business,
Has enlarged many an old business,
Has revived many a dull business,
Has rescued many a lost business,
Has saved many a failing business,
Has preserved many a large business,
And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard said in his old age: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as the busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, for by continually keeping my business before the public, it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

ADVERTISE YOUR BUSINESS.
KEEP YOUR NAME BEFORE THE PUBLIC.
JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING INSURES SUCCESS.
IF BUSINESS IS DULL, ADVERTISE.
IF BUSINESS IS BRISK, ADVERTISE.

The man who didn't believe in advertising has gone into partnership with the sheriff, and the sheriff does the advertising.
